Zusammenfassung

My vision as a senior cultural manager with over 20 years of experience across Europe, North Africa, the Middle East, and Sub-Saharan Africa is to support free and fair artistic and cultural engagement. I aim to enable creative border-crossings and out-of-the-box thinking, challenging established categories. I advocate for culture as a global public good and strive to unlock the potential of cultural relations as a powerful driver of innovation, social cohesion, democratic values, and peaceful interaction. In my current position, I am responsible for over 500 employees and manage a budget of €50 million per year.
